

TRAVEL GUIDE SIGHISOARA

The only inhabited medieval citadel in Eastern Europe is alleged to be the birthplace of the ruler that inspired the fictional Count Dracula.

Sighișoara is a city on the Târnava River in Mureș county, in the historic region of Transylvania. Its citadel was established by German colonists in the 12th century. The town territory has been continuously occupied from ancient times, the vestiges of the Dacian fortress Sandava and the Roman castrum Stenarum having been discovered in the area. The construction of the fortress wall, which was to protect the citadel against Tatar and Ottoman raids, was begun in 1350 and lasted until the 17th century.

The 950 meters wall was initially 4 meters high, but this was subsequently increased by another 3-4 meters. The citadel had 14 towers (each the responsibility of one of the craft guilds) and 4 bastions, of which 9 towers and 3 bastions still exist. In 1999, the citadel was registered in the UNESCO world cultural heritage. Vlad Țepeș (Vlad the Impaler), the Romanian ruler who inspired Bram Stoker's infamous Count Dracula, was allegedly born in Sighișoara in 1431.

Location - a former glass factory

The glass factory, formerly known as STIMET, started its activity in 1957 and functioned until 2005. With over 100.000 sqm available, the festival uses only aprox. 20%.

The location is just 5 minutes away by car from the city centre.
